PLAIN TALK OF THE LATTER.

A Salt Lake newspaper of yesterday gives the following account of the interview between Speaker Blaine and Brigham Young. Brigham wanted to impress the Speaker with the idea that Congress had no right whatever to interfere with the local affairs of a government of the territory in any respect; that any attempt to interfere was a breach of faith, and said they should be left just as the organic law left them and have full power to do all legislation without let or hindrance.

The Speaker reminded Brigham that the

The Speaker reminded Brigham that the Presidential contest of 1861 was fought on the direct issue of the right of Congress to control domestic institutions of the territories, and that Mr. Lincoln was chosen on that ground. Congress had exercised its power by abolishing the relation of master and slave, and its authority was planty in the premises and the extent of was plenary in the premises, and the extent of its exercise a matter of discretion. The or-ganic act of Utah was by its terms subject to amendment and repeal, and no enactment of the territorial legislature was of the slightest validity if Congress chooses to annul.

Brigham said if that is your doctrine our rights and our interests demand that we be admitted as a state. We have the requisite population, resources and wealth.

"It may be true, Mr. Young," the Speaker replied. "You have the necessary population and wealth, but speaking to you with the frankness with which I should speak were I on the floor of Congress, I must say that Utah can never be admitted as a state as long as the institution of admitted as a state as long as the institution of polygamy is upheld and practiced by the Mormon church, and as I understand by the great mass of your people."

This remark seemed to nettle Brigham considerably, but he kept his temper, and proceeded to a long dessertation on the relative purity of morals of the Eastern cities in comparison with those of Utab, contending that the superiority was on the side of the latter.

superiority was on the side of the latter.

"But, Mr. Young," responded the Speaker,
"what you denounce in the East is done against law and clandestinely, and is admitted to be wrong even by those who indulge in it. What you do in Utah is not only done openly by sanction of law, but has the approval and command of the church. With such practices and opinions, radically differing from those of the people of the United States, you cannot, in my judgment, ever be admitted to a participation in the Government of the Union."

"Well, then," said Brigham, "what are you

"Well, then," said Brigham, "what are you going to do about it? You seem always worrying over Utah in Congress and attempting to legislate for us."

"Why," replied the Speaker, "what specific measures Congress will adopt is not for me to say; but I will assure you Congress will adopt say; but I will assure you Congress will adopt such measures as in its opinion may be necessary to maintain the Federal authority in this territory; but as to Congress worrying about Utah, it is my impression the worrying is all or the other side. I do not think it would be right nor wise to do anything to persecute your people for what they may conscientiously believe ple for what they may conscientiously believe however much I may differ from them, but at the same time I would not leave on your mind the impression that Congress may not at an early time legislate on your affairs in just such manner as they may deem for the general good.'

THE SABBATH.

Dr. Erskine. from the special committee on the observance of the Sabbath, submitted an immense preamble, with a long series of resolutions on this subject, holding the owners of stocks, steamboats, and railroads in a great measure responsible for the proper observance of the Sabbath. The cry of six thousand railroad engineers for Sabbath rest had already gone over the land.

At the conclusion of the reading Dr. Booth, of New York, moved to refer the report to the next General Assembly, which was lost, and a motion to refer the report to a special committee to report to the next General Assembly was adopted.

FROM AND TO EUROPE.—Between 17,000 and 18,000 immigrants landed at Castle Garden during last week, embracing almost every nationality in Europe, though the Scandinavian element preponderates. The outgo, however, is almost as remarkable as the income of this great stream of life—the departures in the six ocean steamers leaving last Saturday being numerous enough to tax their carrying capacity to the utmost. These steamers were the Adriatic, Spain, City of Antwerp and Calabria, for Liverpool; Europa, for Glasgow, and Donau, for Bremen. Among the names in the printed lists are those of Anton Rubenstein, the great pianist; the German Minister, Baron Von Schlozer, of Washington; Mr. C. Franguelo, of the Spanish legation; Commodore Glosson, U. S. N.; Mr. George Vandenhoff, Rev. G. Henshaw, Cincinnati; Rev. George McDonald, Rev. Dr. Chapin, and Lieutenant Governor Holt, of Michigan.

THE LAMPLEY MONEY NOT FOUND.—Mr. Lampley has not succeeded in finding the money secreted by Hollohan after the murder of Mrs. Lampley. The specie ($151 in silver) was put by Hollohan in a tin box and sunk in Jones' falls, near the drawbridge. Hollohan stated to Mr. Lampley that he agreed with Nicholson to secrete it in the water in one place, but fearing to trust his partner in the crime, he sunk it in the water at a different place from that agreed upon. On Monday Mr. crime, he sunk it in the water at a different place from that agreed upon. On Monday Mr. Lampley employed two men to search for it, and they spent several hours in the fruitless labor. The high tide prevented the renewal of the search yesterday. The old gentleman had promised them one-half if they recovered the money, but he is so anxious to have Hollohan's truthfulness in the matter proved by the result that last night he told them if they were not satisfied with half, if they would persevere until they found it, they should have the whole. He says he believes Hollohan is sincere in his repentance, and desires to make amends as far as in his power. Of the paper money ($300) said to have been concealed on the premises, and which some of Nicholson's friends knew of nothing has been seen or heard.—Ball. Sun, 28. A GIRL OF FIFTERS YEARS COMMITS SUICIDE.—Coroner Keesler yesterday held an inqueet upon Emma Kurtz, a girl only 15 years of ago, lately residing at 15 Suffolk street, who died on Sunday evening from the effects of Paris green, self-administered on Saturday.
It appears from the evidence of the child's parents that she had of late been very despondent and tired of life. On Saturday, before going to work in 16th street, she bought some Paris green, which she took during the day. She became very sick, and died on Sunday. The jury rendered a verdict in accordance with the fact.

CORESSES. The United States bonds which John Brady, the burglar and bond thief attempted to dispose of yesterday, were undoubtedly stolen. The police are of the opinion that most of the bonds were stolen from the body of Captain Colvocorasses, who was found dead in a field near Bridgeport, Conn., a year ago, having died from a shot wound in the head. The manner of death of Captain Colvocoresses was in doubt, it not being clear whether he was mur-dered or committed suicide. A few days before his death friends of the Captain knew that he had in his possession bonds worth $60,000. These were not found on his body, and have Good Conduct of the Warm Spring Indians.

New York, May 28.—A letter from the agent of the Warm Spring Indian agency states that that tribe is rapidly improving on its reservation, farming being well attended to, even the scouts who are operating against the Modocs having attended to planting before entering the service of the government. Although since the murder of Canby the white settlers have felt uneasy, this tribe never was more peaceable and industrious. In a recent council with the agent they stated that there was no intention of war by any tribe of eastern Oregon.

J. N. Coombs, moderator, and several other ministers of the Presbyterian churches of the District, members of the Presbytery of Washington, as also several prominent members of the church, comprising a committee of arrangements, headed by Mr. Wm. Ballantyne. On the arrival of the train, the visitors, to the number of 300 or more, formed in line, and preceded by the Presbytery of the District, marched to the Capitol and entered the rotunds.

RECEPTION AT THE CAPITOL.

RECEPTION AT THE CAPITOL Here the assemblage was called to order by Mr. Bailantyne, and the Coronation hymn, "All hail the power of Jesus' name," was sung.

behalf of the Presbytery of Washington and the churches of the District, extended a welcome to the visitors to the capital of the nation—the "city of magnificent distances"—which, like some other favored cities, he said, has within a few years exhibited wonderful growth. He promised to do what they could here to make the visit a pleasant one, and expressed the hope that after the labors of the assembly had concluded in the Monumental City, and they had all safely reached their homes, that one of their most pleasing recollections would be this visit they had paid to the capital of the United States, and that they had here drank the pure waters of patriotism at the very fountain head.

Rev. Dr. Nichols, of St. Louis, moderator of the last General Assembly, returned thanks for the hearty words of welcome they had received and said it was with just pride they stood under the very dome of the Capitol. Those here were enjoying great advantages over citizens of less favored portions of the country, and some of their number from the west have been thinking of making use of some such power as Aladin's their number from the west have been thinking of making use of some such power as Aladin's wonderful lamp and taking the capital nearer the geographical center of the country. But should the capital be removed there was one thing that they could not remove from Washington—the glorious memories of our Washington, our Adams, Jefferson, and others. They brought a special message for the Presbytery of Washington and the citizens. They had heard strange tidings from Washington, in which there were some curious French names; and he hoped that as they came here with fair characters they would return as pure in character and morals. For be assured, he said, you have an influence here which is felt throughout the country. The words of the churches of this city were to be carried home with the visitors and were to be carried home with the visitors and will be heard in every state. He again, in clos-ing, thanked the Presbytery of Washington, for their hearty welcome. The visitors were taken in charge by the Washingtonians and shown over the Capitol building. Sergeant-at-arms French escorted them to the Senate chamber and through the apartments connected therewith. About 12 o'clock a. m. they took the street cars for the President's House.

There were over two hundred delegates in the party, many of whom were accompanied by their families. AT THE WHITE HOUSE.

moderator of the assembly, in the absence of Dr. Crosby, addressed the Cabinet. He said they had called to pay their respects, but regretted the absence of the President. "We can, however, match your Roland with our Oliver, as our esteemed moderator is not with us. Officially, we acknowledge allegiance to but one, our adorable Lord and Saviour, but as citone, our adorable Lord and Saviour, but as citizens we are glad to own allegiance to the powers that be. I can assure you, sir, I but speak the common sentiment of the general assembly when I say that the one prayer is that the spirit truth, righteousness and peace may ever prevail in your councils."
Secretary Fish, in response, said:

Secretary Fish, in response, said:

Mr. Moderator and Gentlemen: In the absence of the President, we are charged by him to express his regret at not being able to personally welcome you to this city. We are also charged by him to express the interest with which he has watched the deliberations of the great body you compose, representing and controling such a large portion of the Christian denomination. He welcomes you here, and congratulates you on the harmony, wisdom and prudence which have controlled your long and important session.

Mr. Walson, of Philadelphia, then introduced each delegate to the members of the Cabinet, and after the usual hand-shaking the delegates withdrew, passing from the blue parlor to the red room and conservatory.

The County Schools.

MIXED SCHOOL QUESTION DISCUSSED.

At a meeting of the County School Trustees yesterday the board went into committee of the whole, Mr. David Miller in the chair, for the purpose of considering the resolution of the Legislature calling on the Governor for a report in relation to

REDUCTION OF EXPENSES OF THE COUNTY SCHOOLS.

The resolution was read, and Mr. Brown, chairman of the finance committee, reported that they have decided to present the last annual report as the answer to the first inquiry, and that the finance committee report the actual and ultimate expenses of the current year as the answer to the second inquiry, and further, to consolidate four schools in two, and to take away an assistant teacher in another school, which they reported was the only practicable act of economy for the current year, those changes making a reduction of about $2,200 per annum.

MIXED SCHOOLS. REDUCTION OF EXPENSES OF THE COUNTY

Mr. Mitchell submitted a resolution that whenever two schools located not more than one mile apart shall have only a single teacher each, the two that may be nearest to each other shall be united into one school, with a single principal teacher, or a principal teacher and one assistant, with the proviso that in said consolidation no discrimination shall be made on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude. He made a long speech in favor of his resolution.

resolution.

Mr. Brown asked how many white children would be left in the schools?

Mr. Mitchell thought the mixture would be beneficial to the interests of both.

Mr. Brown contended that they had no power to consolidate white and colored. He showed that the colored schools were in the majority and the colored children had the best advantages. He thought that the proposition should come from the white people to the colored to mix the schools, as the latter had all the advantages.

come from the white people to the colored to mix the schools, as the latter had all the advantages.

Mr. Mitchell said he made this proposition as a matter of economy. So far as the question of breaking up the schools was concerned, it had not done so in other parts of the country.

Mr. Folliot said the proposition of Mr. Mitchell would not work, as the county is too thinly populated. What is wanted is to reduce the expenses to forty cents on the one hundred dollars. He thought this was a subject for the Legislature to act upon. This board was asked to do what Congress had refused to do.

Mr. Brown said there were about 1,250 pupils on the rolls, and by his proposition the schools could be run for about $24,000.

The question was then put, and seconded by Mr. Brown, and the resolution of Mr. Mitchell was rejected.

The changes, as submitted by Mr. Brown, were adopted, as follows. The assistant at the Brightwood school be dispensed with; the schools taught by Messrs. Vorhees; the Cammack and Lugenbeel schools to be transferred to the building occupied by Mr. Peck; the grade of Mr. Simmons' school to be lowered to $600. These changes will reduce the expenses of the schools $3,000.

THE SIXTH STREET PRESETTERIAN CHURCE AND THE B. & P. RAILHOAD.—To-day, in the court in general term, the argument in the case of the trustees of the Sixth street Presbyterian church against the Baltimore and Potomas railread company was resumed, and a motion made to set aside the award of the jury ($11,800 damages), on the ground that the jury were guided in making their verdict by evidence as to the noise, smoke, and close proximity to the engine-house. The court decided to affirm the award, and Judge Cartter, in amouncing the decision, took occasion to remark that the railroad had damaged the property even more than the amount awarded. He could not account for such a small award.
